Ryan Hunt & Yanick Boucher get OTSFF-Rockstar Support for 2019 CSRA/ISOC Snowcross Season

OTSFF Group's Andre Laurin is pleased to announce that Ryan Hunt and Yanick Boucher will be competing in the 2019 CSRA National and Provincial Snowcross Championships, as well as selected ISOC events in the USA, with a Rockstar Energy Drink helmet endorsement. This sponsorship officially designates the two Bailey Motorsports team members as bona fide Rockstar athletes.

“Since OTSFF hasn't been active in snowcross for a few years, we wanted to establish some presence again on the circuit in association with our main motorsport sponsorship partner Rockstar Energy. It also gives Rockstar, title sponsor of the CSRA series, additional exposure on the track and behind the scenes,” Laurin said. “When it came down to deciding which team and drivers were the right candidates to wear the Rockstar helmets, Bailey Motorsports and their pro sled driver Ryan Hunt and pro snow bike rider Yanick Boucher were an obvious choice for us. The team's management and their on and off track professionalism are first class and so are their athletes.”

Bailey Motorsports, which is owned and managed by Stuart Hunt, was founded 16 years ago as a platform for his own snowcross racing, which soon saw his son Ryan and other family members join the team. Ryan, who was just four years old at the time, has evolved into a top-ten pro driver, grabbing a No. 6 ranking as a pro rookie in the 2018 CSRA Nationals. Yanick Boucher, who also races motocross for Bailey Motorsports, claimed the CSRA Snow Bike National Championship in 2018.

“It's great to be affiliated with Rockstar and OTSFF. Having them highlight our two athletes is something we're pretty pumped about. We know that we have to be doing something right to even be taken into consideration for their support,” Stuart Hunt said. “We believe that we can represent Rockstar and OTSFF in the most professional way. Between our website and social media, we do our best to promote the sport, our athletes, and last but not least our sponsors.”
